

Jordan Myska Allen is a writer based in Austin, Texas and the author of A Beautiful Apocalypse.

He devotes much of his time to the practice of Circling—a unique form of relational meditation. As the head of Circling Europe, North America, he organizes regular practice groups and retreats dedicated to this form of group mysticism.

A graduate of Rice University, Allen spent four years touring the country with a funk band; co-organized two global conferences on integral leadership and enlightenment; and worked in corporate change management.

In his spare time, he enjoys rock climbing, playing music, meditating, and exploring various psycho-spiritual techniques. You can find out more about him at www.jordanmallen.com